

Check you're ready to take the driving test

You do not need prompts from your driving instructor

You need to be dealing with every part of driving consistently, confidently and independently – without any prompting from your driving instructor.

You do not make silly mistakes when you're driving

If you're making silly mistakes that are dangerous or potentially dangerous during your driving lessons, you're not ready.

You pass mock driving tests

Taking and passing mock tests with your driving instructor will help you understand if you're ready to pass.

You can control your nerves

Controlling your nerves is a really important skill for driving safely. Make sure you've got a plan in place to manage your nerves.

Your driving instructor agrees you're ready

If your driving instructor says you're not ready to take your driving test, listen to them. They're road safety experts who know what it takes to pass the driving test.

Move your driving test back if you're not ready. It can give you vital time to brush up on your skills and make sure you're ready to pass.

www.gov.uk/ready-to-pass

 Driver & Vehicle Standards Agency

